HISCRICANEOUS.

The Local Inspectors of this port have been examthing two New Orienns pilots on the charge of drunk-enness and dissipation. There not being sufficient proof against one, he was discharged—the proof against the other being clear the Inspectors suspended him, but by the interference of several friends, and his signing of a contract which binds him to abstein from the use of any intexicating liquer, his license was restored. Our Inspectors are determined day, about five miles above the city, to take on a lot of bridge timber for Nashville.......At Pittaburg, on Baturday, Capt. David Gilmore sold the New York to Capt. Wm. Harlett, formerly of the steamer, Hanni-bal. The New York is an old boat, but is still in a protty fair condition. We hear that the price paid ras 25,000 The Marmora and Clara Dean left Pittaburg on Saturday for Louisville, the Marinet and Marsugo for St. Louis, and the Rochester and Hibbord for Nashville.......Business at Pittsburg on laturday, as we learn from the Dispatch, was active, owing probably to the reduction in rates Cant. Louisville.—The Courier of Saturday says:

Still Kintha.—The river was rising quite fast yesterday, with faily ten feet water on the Fails last evening. During the previous twenty-four hours the yearing the previous twenty-four hours the year has now ascend the Fails with heavy louds. The weather was clear and boat yesterday, and very chilly, with tears of frost.

The Mississippi at Memphis, after receding a few inches, and again commenced swelling when the Wessiford presend up, caused by a freshet in the Cumberland. Now the second rise in that stream, together with the high water in this river, and the flood in the Wessiford presend up, caused by a freshet in the Cumberland. Now the second rise in that stream, together with the high water in this river, and the flood in the Wessiford presend in the second rise in that stream, together of the own time to come.

The flow in the Lower Mississippi this year has been of a singular character, the stage of water at many polara being higher than was ever before known, even to the oldest settlers, while at other points it is far below the flood of last year.

By apocial dispatch from Memphis to the agents, we learn that the Robert J. Ward, for we Orleans, was at that point Thursday. She is due to morrow night. At Bayou Sara the officers of that wenty-five miles above, the water was fully as high as it was last apring.

The river fully three feet lower than the flood last year, while at Pitcher's Point, and about twenty-five miles above, the water was fully as high as it was last apring.

The river at Midalia, La., opposite Natchez, had reached the high water mark of lass. The high water of last var is denoted by a spike drove into a large tree. We apprehend still higher water than the present, and additional destruction. The levee above have given away in several places on both sides of the river, and the booming current is making its way through the bayous and small streams to overally the back country.
